SELF-DEBRIEFING GUIDE

“We’re in the business of helping people identify their true talent.”

–Bill J. Bonnstetter

GUIDE OVERVIEW

The following guide is intended to help you THINK about the results your behavioral report provides. The guide will also challenge you to APPLY the discoveries you make. Work through how you communicate and consider how your style affects you, others and your job.

Behaviors Introduction

Read the Introduction to your Behaviors Section.

Please keep in mind BEHAVIORS (DISC) are how a person prefers to give and receive information. It does NOT tell us how intelligent a person is, their background, experience, etc. With an understanding of behaviors, we can make informed assumptions about how a person will behaviorally respond to different situations.

Remember there are no good or bad behavioral styles. We all behave differently for different reasons. There are situations when certain behaviors are more effective and situations when certain behaviors are more of a hindrance. Regardless, our behavioral style should never be used as an excuse for our actions.

The three objectives of Behaviors are:

1. Identify and appreciate your own behavioral style.
2. Identify and appreciate the behavioral style of others.
3. Learn to adapt your behaviors to create superior performance.
